

Key Messages

Important information to be aware of:

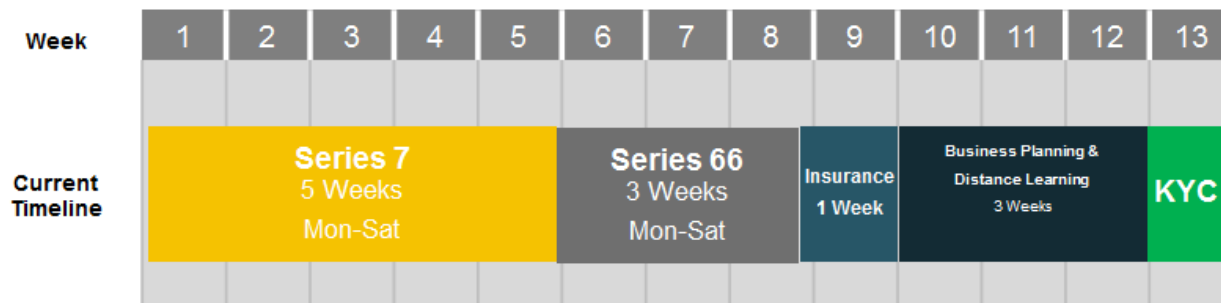

- With the financial services industry becoming more complex and dynamic, the Series 7 exam is regularly changing
- Study is six days a week (Monday-Saturday) typically consists of 50-55 hours a week
- The Study Program needs to be uninterrupted
 - Vacations during study will not be approved
- Staying on calendar is extremely important
 - Those who fail to complete the calendar most often fail the exam

Study Program

We assist you with your exam preparations

The purpose of the Series 7 exam is to test the level of competence someone has to perform the duties of a Registered Representative. The Series 66 Exam qualifies you both as a Securities Agent in your state and an Investment Advisor Representative (IAR). Both are required to be a Financial Advisor with Edward Jones.

During the Study Program, you will become a full-time associate of Edward Jones and will receive hourly compensation on a biweekly basis. This will allow you to focus on training and development as you study for your registration exams independently and begin to learn business building strategies.

Everything you need to succeed

Our study program will provide you with comprehensive study materials including:

- Study Manuals (Textbook)
- Online Flashcards
- Classroom Lectures available on-demand
- Online Practice Exams
- Short content videos using electronic blackboards breaking down the content
- Resource Guides with memory aids and study strategies
- A Study Specialist who will monitor your progress and provide study strategies based on your performance
 - All study specialists are Series 7 and Series 66 registered
- Access to the Edward Jones Study Line (open 6 days a week) staffed by the Study Team to answer any questions on S7 and S66 material